DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on March 31, 2008 has been entered.

Response to Amendment

This action is in response to the Applicant's amendment filed on March 31, 2008. Claims 40-61 have been withdrawn. Claims 1, 3, 7, 10-39 will be considered for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3, 7, and 10-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hartman et al. (US 5,960,411) (“Hartman”) in view of Jacobi et al. (US 6,064,980) (“Jacobi”).

Hartman teaches a method in a media service system for transaction configuration, the method comprising the steps of: selecting by a user of at least one transaction configuration option from among a plurality of transaction configuration options presented to the user, wherein each transaction configuration option defines one or more actions that take place during the purchase of an item or service when the user utilizes at least one client device to complete a purchase; and implementing at least one transaction process responsive to the user indicating a desire to purchase an item or service utilizing the at least one client device from among a plurality of transaction processes comprising pre-configured transaction processes and user defined transaction processes, wherein at least one user defined transaction process comprises the user selected at least one transaction configuration option, wherein at least one transaction configuration option comprises a single execution transaction option that enables the user to initiate and complete an entire purchase in one execution (col. 3, lines 46-66; col. 4, lines 24-38). Hartman does not teach that the administrator enables the selection of the transaction configuration or that the configuration options are presented to the user by the administrator. However, Jacobi teaches that a system administrator can control services in a computer network for e-commerce (claims 6, 13, and 20). Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to incorporate the teaching of Jacobi into the invention of Hartman. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do so in order to allow the system administrator to exert some control over the system and applications of Hartman.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
